

I have Parkinson's disease and tremors in hands make it difficult for typing telecommunication conversation. Using video relay service (VRS) is easy for me as I use sign language. I notice that the VRS are not any better since the FCC cut the VRS funds. I urge that the FCC provide more money for the VRS so that their services and technologies can be improved. Thank you.